Description

Oil on panel, presented in its gilded wooden frame. Signed lower right. 69 cm × 60 cm (framed). Count Charles Ferdinand de Condamy was born in Gamaches, Somme, in 1847. He received the classical education of a young aristocrat. Initiated at an early age to the fine arts, he later became a pupil of the painter Barrias. Gifted with a gift for observation and a taste for depicting movement, he devoted himself to a spontaneous style, and to the representation of his passions: hunting, horses and dogs. Owner, between 1875 and 1897, of a crew, "Le Rallye Picard", he was also lieutenant of the venerie in Amiens. His talent was widely recognized and particularly appreciated by the Picard aristocracy.
