creative freedom and generous pay, prompted him to leave HB in 1946 to rejoin Victor Lucas, who had resigned in March 1944. The HB pottery exhibited his creations alongside those of the other artists at the factory in July 1951 (seven pieces from this period are preserved by the Pottery Museum in Locmaria). He exhibited locally at several events, and the 15th Guilvinec Contemporary Art Fair organized by the Union des Arts Plastiques Bretons paid him a posthumous tribute during the summer of 1974.
