Description

Elegant Austrian table clock from the Neoclassical period, crafted from veneered wood and embellished with mercury-gilded bronze. The case is topped by an eagle with outstretched wings and adorned with gilded decorative appliques and lion heads on the sides featuring rings. Enameled dial with Arabic numerals and original Austrian movement equipped with a quarter-hour chime. The movement is currently operational but requires servicing; operation is not guaranteed. The striking mechanism also requires servicing and is currently not functioning. Good overall condition, with normal signs of age.
