Description

A fine 18th-century model of an Italian chest, crafted from solid walnut and distinguished by a level of craftsmanship that faithfully evokes the grand ceremonial furniture of the period. This piece stands out for its elegant framed front, adorned centrally with an inlaid heraldic coat of arms, the finely carved lower band featuring, and the characteristic carved animal-foot legs--details that attest to the high level of craftsmanship. The structure features harmonious lines and balanced proportions. (The finest artisan cabinetmakers of the period produced scale models of furniture to show to aristocratic or ecclesiastical patrons before crafting them in full size). 64x33x33 cm
