Description

A charming First Empire-style living room cabinet with freestanding columns, three drawers on the front, a white Carrara marble top, a low plinth, adorned with high-quality ornamental chiseled bronze fittings, oak trim, and a Parisian frame from the Napoleonic era. An elegant, high-quality piece of furniture, easy to place and highly decorative. An elegant, high-quality piece in the "Neoclassical" style, functional and authentic to the very early 19th century; it retains its key and the two locks on the lower drawers, while the standard drawer lacks a lock and slides open from the bottom
