Description

Let's start by mentioning the extraordinary dimensions of this wonderful antique Caucasian kilim. 255 cm long by 225 cm wide. This is, of course, a fragment, and one can imagine that the original length was around 4 meters or more. It is extremely rare to find such considerable widths in pieces this old. The format is compact; the piece is almost square! This is an extraordinary kilim in more ways than one. The weaving is masterful--fine, tight, precise, and even. The piece is supple to the touch, and the quality of the wool is remarkable--infinitely soft, sensational. The colors are, how to put it...? Incredible, unreal, almost liquid, pure, dense, and saturated in places. The abraded effects are concentrated, omnipresent, and delightful. That's it--the piece is rich, full-bodied, and voluptuous. is great art, a lyrical symphony, a blend of textures and vibrations. It exudes perfect harmony in the selection of exclusively plant-based dyes and in this balanced linear composition.

Everything is in its place, marvelous. It is the know-how and mastery of the Kazakh nomadic peoples that are expressed across the entire surface. A true collector's item, extremely rare. Its graphic power also makes it a highly decorative piece. Like a large-format painting to be placed on the floor. Circa 1880 Perfect condition Dimensions: 255 x 225 cm Laurent Beauty of Kilims
