

Pair Of Lidded Crystal Candy Dishes, 19th-century France

350 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Crystal

Description

An elegant pair of cut crystal candy dishes featuring a latticework design and diamond-pointed accents. Resting on a square-based pedestal, they are topped with their original lids featuring faceted handles. The exquisite cutwork creates a remarkable play of light. Material: colorless cut crystal. Probable period: late 19th century Use: display bonbonnières intended to hold sugared almonds, candies, or small precious objects. Decoration: highly elaborate geometric cut, faceted lids, square bases also cut. Origin: 19th-century French crystal production. Very good overall condition; note a small chip under the base, see photo.
