Description

A regional cabinet made of solid walnut in the Louis XV style, dating from the late 18th century. It opens with two wide, molded doors carved with rocaille motifs. The front is adorned with finely crafted decoration that highlights the quality of the walnut and its beautiful original patina. The cabinet rests on curved legs and retains its espagnolette lock as well as its antique key, both of which are fully functional. The forged lardets and the quality of construction are indicative of traditional craftsmanship from the late 18th century. The interior offers ample storage space with shelves and drawers. An authentic piece of character, featuring beautiful proportions and a remarkable presence.Delivery and home installation: EUR200.Contact us for more information.
