Description

Antique theater, stage, or film crown made of openwork gilded brass, richly adorned with red and green glass cabochons, as well as decorative pearls. This crown features an elegant medieval and royal-inspired design, characteristic of the costume accessories used in theatrical performances, operas, historical shows, and film productions from the early 20th century. The craftsmanship is particularly meticulous, with an openwork and twisted design that highlights the colored glass cabochons. The antique patina gives it an authentic charm and a beautiful decorative presence. Condition: Good overall condition. One missing pearlescent bead. One damaged openwork brass bead (visible in the photographs). Colored glass beads present. Dimensions: Inner oval diameter : 19 x 17
