Description

An elegant terracotta sculpture depicting a Greek horse's head, inspired by the equestrian iconography of classical antiquity. Created in Italy during the second half of the 20th century, this work reflects the timeless influence of ancient Greek art and its celebration of strength, beauty, and harmony. Crafted with great skill in terracotta, the sculpture captures the horse's expressive features and graceful proportions with remarkable precision. The warm tones and natural texture of the terracotta enhance its sculptural quality, while its classical inspiration lends it a refined and timeless character. Ideal for libraries, offices, entryways, or classically inspired decorative art collections, this sculpture combines artistic presence with historical elegance. Origin: Italy Period: Second half of the 20th
