Description

A monumental stone sculpture depicting a faun, masterfully carved by the Neapolitan School in the early 20th century. Inspired by classical mythology, the figure embodies the playful and untamed spirit of the faun, a legendary creature associated with nature, fertility, music, and the pastoral world. Hand-carved with exceptional craftsmanship, the sculpture displays a remarkable level of detail, from the expressive facial features and anatomical modeling to the finely executed decorative elements. The quality of the sculpture reflects the renowned tradition of Neapolitan sculptors, who drew their inspiration from the rich Greco-Roman heritage of southern Italy. Its imposing dimensions and strong sculptural presence make it an exceptional focal point for gardens, terraces, entryways, courtyards,
