Description

French school end of 19th century Landscape by the river oil on paper 29 x 49,5 cm In good condition In a modern frame : 33,5 x 53.5 cm This intimate river landscape, executed in oil on paper, reflects the enduring vitality of plein-air study in French painting during the second half of the 19th century. The composition, arranged in a broad panoramic format, conveys with quiet sensitivity the luminous, peaceful atmosphere of a riverside scene. The use of paper as a support -- common practice among landscape painters of the period -- lends the work the freshness and spontaneity characteristic of studies made directly from nature. The work belongs to the tradition of the Barbizon painters and their successors, for whom rivers and their banks became one of the defining motifs of modern landscape painting.
