Description

This large parrot-style coat rack, crafted from bent beech wood that has been painstakingly steam-bent, embodies all the charm and technical mastery of the furniture of that era. Its slender silhouette is structured around a central solid wood shaft, which rises to a delicately carved finial. The upper crown features eight large, harmoniously curved S-shaped hooks, designed to hold coats, hats, and accessories while maintaining an airy and balanced silhouette.The base, formed by curved legs joined by a hoop, ensures remarkable stability and contributes to the piece's overall elegance. The piece as a whole reflects the blend of functionality and refinement that characterizes works inspired by the Viennese style and the bentwood furniture workshops of the turn of the century.This coat rack, in the style
