Description

Interesting carved wooden architectural protomes depicting fantastical figures--one female and one male--which served as talismans to ward off evil. It is likely that these elements, dating from the 15th or early 16th century, once adorned a larger wooden architectural complex and were placed at the base of a terrace or entablature, and thus viewed from the bottom looking up. The origin of these elements is certainly Nordic and reflects, in a certain way, Breton and French culture, with Gothic features continuing throughout the 16th century. Dimensions: 23 cm x 32 cm x 32 cm. A certificate of authenticity is included with the sale.
