Water-dropper From The Shipwreck Off The Coast Of Hoi An (15th Century) #2

350 EUR

Period : Before 16th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Porcelain

Description

Vietnamese porcelain (or porcelainous stoneware) water-dropper for making chinese ink, shaped like a monkey holding its young and painted with cobalt blue underglaze.In good condition with a glaze that is still quite glossy. Some slight erosion of the glaze, barely visible on the snouts.In the same cargo, archaeologists found other examples shaped like deers, buffalos, elephants, turtles, frogs, fishes, etc.Ref: (last four photos)Nguyen Dinh Chien & Pham Quoc Quan, 2008: "Ceramics on Five Shipwrecks off the Coast of Vietnam," fig. 145, p. 170.Sotheby's, 12/03/2000: "Fine Asian Works of Art": lots 6303-6304.Free shipping within France via tracked Colissimo.To view other items: www.lamalledugouverneur.com

Dealer

La Malle du Gouverneur

Asian Antiques, Opium paraphernalia, Oceanic art

Mobile : 06 30 92 38 99

16 allée V. Hugo

Figeac 46100