Description

Victorian diamond bangle dating from the second half of the 19th century (circa 1860). The rigid circular band is crafted from 18k yellow gold and silver. The openwork upper decorative section is finished in silver to highlight the sparkle of the stones. The bracelet features rose-cut and old mine-cut diamonds typical of the period. At the center are two larger main diamonds surrounded by smaller stones, with a total carat weight of approximately 0.38. The front design features finely openwork floral or fan motifs, combining romantic Victorian elegance with geometric lines that foreshadow the Edwardian style.
