Description

Side table or end table with a cabaret-style top, also known as a trough table, made of solid cherry wood, restored, dating from the first half of the 19th century. It opens via a front drawer and features a top that serves as a storage tray, as well as a hexagonal shelf within the base. The cherry wood has a walnut-colored patina. A charming little side table, ideal as a coffee table or a tray table. An original and uncommon design resting on a plinth. In very good condition; the cherry wood has a beautiful, waxed walnut-colored patina.
