1 650 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Brass

Description

An elegant neoclassical-style coffee table made around 1970, in the style of the designs by Maison Jansen and Guy Lefèvre. The frame rests on four brushed metal legs accented with gold-plated brass rings and ornaments. The ends are adorned with fluted finials that enhance its classic elegance. The upper shelf is made of clear glass framed in brass, while the lower shelf features a fawn-colored leather-covered top decorated with a Greek frieze, creating a beautiful contrast. This table features a light and refined silhouette, typical of high-end French furniture from the 1970s, blending neoclassical influences with modernity. In good overall condition. The leather shows some signs of wear and superficial scratches. The brass has a beautiful patina. Dimensions: Height: 49 cm Width: 93
