Description

Three Gilded Bronze Altar Crosses, 19th Century
Set of three finely chased gilded bronze altar crosses, dating from the 19th century. Each features richly ornamented decoration inspired by the Neo-Gothic and Neo-Baroque styles, depicting Christ on the cross, kneeling cherubs in adoration, and abundant floral and religious motifs. The turned bases, in various shapes, demonstrate high-quality casting and chiseling. The gilding, still very luminous, highlights the delicacy of the sculpted details: rays of glory, volutes, foliage, cherubs, and liturgical ornaments. These three crosses form a harmonious decorative ensemble that could be displayed in a collection of sacred art, on a private altar, or as decorative elements in a distinctive interior.
