Description

Since the first of these two single-flower vases has been sold, I am relisting the second one with its own photos. A lovely and rare Legras vase decorated with apple trees in bloom. One of Legras's most beautiful and highly sought-after designs (along with the "Indiana" model), this stunning vase is entirely acid-etched, featuring lovely blended colors that transition from various shades of green to blue, along with a rich botanical motif, including these white flowers with yellow pistils and wood-colored branches. A very poetic piece--I'll let you be the judge. A lovely shape with a bulbous base and a long, curved neck. 21 cm tall, in perfect condition, signed, circa 1900. A sublime Legras vase, a truly beautiful Art Nouveau piece.
