Description

An interesting wooden cross covered with mother-of-pearl, finely engraved with the instruments of the Passion and adorned with a relic of the True Cross. It is made of wood from Gethsemane, the place where Jesus prayed before his arrest. At the base of the cross is the inscription "S. DE BETH LEEM," referring to a second relic, likely a fragment of stone or wood from Bethlehem. On the back are depicted the 14 Stations of the Cross. The relic comes with its authentic bishop's certificate dated 1848.

Dimensions: 30 cm by 18 cm. In good condition, although two pieces of mother-of-pearl are missing. For those who are sensitive to such things, this reliquary exudes a powerful energetic charge. Reference 883
