Description

Empire-era Recamier - Restoration in Flamed Mahogany
Elegant Empire-era Recamier - Restoration, crafted from flamed mahogany with a spectacular fan-shaped grain. This lounge chair features simple, refined lines characteristic of French furniture from the 1820s-1830s. The scroll-shaped backrest flows harmoniously into a wide, circular headboard that beautifully highlights the beauty of the veneer. The side posts, topped with scrolls, and the turned legs further enhance the piece's architectural elegance. The chaise longue is upholstered in red fabric adorned with laurel wreaths and comes with its cylindrical bolsters. The mahogany has a magnificent warm, deep patina, revealing the exceptional quality of the cabinetmaking from this period. Serving as both a piece of furniture for
