Pair of wrought-iron and blackened wood side tables from the mid-20th century. An elegant pair of side tables in the Neo-Mediterranean or Neo-Tuscan style, combining a wrought-iron frame with rich decorative scrollwork and foliage wreaths, and a rectangular, molded wooden top with a blackened finish. The base, which is particularly intricately crafted, features a harmonious interlacing of hand-forged scrolls, embellished with decorative foliage wreaths. The corners are accented by small brass spheres that add a refined touch to the overall design. Thanks to their balanced proportions, these side tables can be used as end tables, serving tables, entryway side tables, or stands for plants and decorative objects.
