Description

Art Deco-era display cabinet/bookcase in rosewood and blackened wood. An elegant display piece from the Art Deco period, crafted from rosewood with stunning flamed grain and accented with blackened wood frames and posts. The upper section features two sliding glass doors for displaying objects, books, or collections, while the lower section opens with two solid doors, providing ample storage space. The clean, geometric lines, combined with the richness of the wood, are characteristic of French furniture from the years 1925-1935. Features: Display cabinet / Art Deco low bookcase, rosewood or exotic wood with spectacular grain, blackened frames and stiles, two sliding glass doors in the upper section, two drawers at the base, two solid storage doors in the
