

Empire-style Armchair With Dolphins, Made Of Mahogany, With Carved Console Armrests

480 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Mahogany

Width : 59

Height : 92

Depth : 54

Description

Mahogany Empire Armchair with Dolphins, with Carved Console Armrests, Early 19th Century
Elegant Empire-style armchair in solid mahogany, featuring the simple and balanced lines characteristic of the first quarter of the 19th century. The straight, slightly sloped backrest is upholstered in green fabric with a geometric pattern, matching the seat. The scroll-shaped armrests rest on remarkable carved console-style supports adorned with stylized water leaves, a detail typical of Empire furniture inspired by antiquity. The mahogany frame features a beautiful, warm patina and harmonious grain. The upholstery is accented by a scattering of upholstery tacks. The armchair rests on four saber-shaped legs at the back and straight legs at the front, lending the piece both elegance and

Dealer

Tino antiquites

Mobilier

Mobile : 0763127955

11 rue de bel air à l'huis laurent

Dun les Places 58230

stability. A high-quality piece of furniture that fits equally well in both classic and contemporary interiors. Period: Empire, early 19th century, circa 1810-1820 Material: solid mahogany Upholstery: green fabric with a geometric pattern Condition: generally in good condition, with signs of wear consistent with its age. Dimensions Height: 92 cm Width: 59 cm Depth: 54 cm