Description

Louis-Philippe-era chest of drawers in flamed mahogany, with a white marble top. A charming Louis-Philippe chest of drawers in flamed mahogany, featuring four drawers on the front and topped with an elegant, veined white marble slab. This chest of drawers captivates with the quality of its wood, arranged in a mirror pattern to form superb symmetrical designs characteristic of French furniture from the first half of the 19th century. The drawer fronts feature remarkable butterfly-wing grain, which is particularly decorative. The understated and balanced lines, the slightly rounded legs, and the small bronze locks are hallmarks of the Louis-Philippe style, prized for its understated elegance and functionality. The veined white marble top is original and retains a beautiful presence. The
