Description

Designer pendant light in brass and smoked glass - 1970s An elegant, modernist pendant light from the 1970s featuring three light sources arranged at different heights. The gold-toned brass structure is adorned with stunning geometric shades formed from smoked glass panels assembled in a diamond pattern around each bulb, creating a particularly refined interplay of transparency and reflections. Its clean lines, typical of 1970s Italian and European design, combine the warmth of brass with the understated elegance of tinted glass for a look that is both chic and timeless. The smoked glass shades diffuse a soft, warm light, ideal for a living room, dining room, or entryway. This pendant light is a beautiful vintage decorative piece, perfectly suited for contemporary, design-forward, or Mid-Century
