Description

An elegant pair of neoclassical paintings in oil on panel, attributed to Angelo Maestri, an Italian painter active between the late 18th century and the early decades of the 19th century. The works depict allegorical figures in the classical style, captured in dynamic and harmonious poses, inspired by the aesthetic ideals of Greco-Roman antiquity, typical of the neoclassical style. The compositions stand out for the refinement of their draftsmanship, the balance of their proportions, and the delicate modulation of color, with soft, luminous drapery that stands out against the dark background, lending depth and solemnity to the scene. Particular attention is paid to the anatomical rendering and the measured expression of the faces, elements that attest to the paintings' high artistic quality. Both paintings are
