Description

A low, three-tier bookcase with white Carrara marble feet featuring gray veining, supporting clear glass shelves. This bookcase, created in the 1970s, is reminiscent of the work of Alessandro Mendini (1931-2019), an Italian architect and designer who was a leading figure in the radical design movement in Italy. In the 1970s and 1980s, he designed the Tempietto bookcase, a modular shelving unit made of Carrara marble and glass shelves, produced by Up Group, an Italian manufacturer and marble supplier...
