Description

Large decorative HB Quimper platter - Breton scene based on Théophile Deyrolle. A superb and imposing glazed earthenware platter from the prestigious HB Quimper factory, featuring a remarkable Breton genre scene inspired by the artistic world of Théophile Deyrolle, one of the most famous painters of late 19th-century Brittany. At the center of the composition unfolds a lively and warm scene depicting a Breton family in traditional costume, surrounded by geese and cattle, in a rural setting typical of Finistère. The richness of the design, the finesse of the figures, and the quality of the details attest to the craftsmanship of the HB workshops, which have played a major role in spreading Breton imagery through their most prestigious creations. The rim is particularly spectacular, adorned with a rich polychrome design alternating between stylized floral motifs, garlands of foliage, and highlights of deep colors in shades of blue, green, ochre, and manganese. The piece as a whole features exceptionally fine enameling, lending it a brilliant luminosity. The HB Quimper signature appears on both the front and the back, accompanied by the letter A, likely a workshop or designer's mark. Pieces inspired by Théophile Deyrolle's compositions are among the most sought-after works from the Quimper factory, particularly when presented in this large, decorative format. This piece is impressive both for its generous diameter and the richness of its central scene. It stands as a remarkable testament to the golden age of Breton earthenware and will naturally find its place in a collection dedicated to Quimper or in a distinctive interior design. The only flaw worth noting is a very slight, old chip on the rim, visible in the photographs, which does not affect the overall appearance of this beautiful piece, which remains particularly decorative. An authentic, decorative Breton earthenware piece with a commanding presence, representative of the historic craftsmanship of the HB Quimper factory. Diameter: 44 cm. HB Quimper Manufactory. Design based on a work by Théophile Deyrolle. In very good overall condition with a slight old chip along the rim.
