Description

France, 1750 Dimensions: Height of the case: 91 cm Height of the console: 39 cm Width of the console: 46 cm Total height: 130 cm Reference: Regnauld a Chaalons (see page 548 of Tardy's Dictionnaire des Horlogers Français) The movement is visible through the dial and the case back. The clock still has its original spindle movement. It strikes the hours and half-hours on a bell located beneath the pendulum. The winding key and crank are also original. A very distinctive model featuring green horn marquetry inlaid with brass using the Boulle technique, and very fine engraving. Rich gilded bronze ornaments adorn the clock and the console. A wall clock of exceptional beauty, in excellent original condition.
