Description

ANTIQUÉ 17TH-CENTURY GLAZED TERRACOTTA JAR TUSCANY PAINTED, BEAUTIFUL PATINA, SIGNS OF AGE AND RESTORATIONS H 35, W 32 This object is an antique glazed and painted terracotta jug (or pouring vessel) dating back to the 17th century (1600) and likely made in Tuscany. The piece features a characteristic bulbous shape with a wide side handle and a spout. It is decorated on the surface with floral motifs and scrollwork in shades of yellow and green, applied over the reddish background typical of the clay. As an antique piece, it displays a charming patina combined with evident signs of age and wear, which attest to its authenticity and historical use
