Description

A charming glazed porcelain flower vase produced by ROBJ Paris, depicting a young Japanese woman wearing a kimono decorated with Asian characters and holding a traditional drum. On the back, three bamboo stalks form three receptacles designed to hold a few flowers or small arrangements. This creation perfectly illustrates ROBJ's taste for Orientalist motifs and figurative pieces characteristic of Art Deco from the years 1925-1930. The design is finely hand-painted in soft shades of pink, green, and beige. The base bears the following hidden mark: "Robj - Paris - Made in France". Condition: very good condition, with no cracks or restoration (see photos).
