Description

A pair of monumental wall sconces made in Italy in the 1950s, richly adorned with striking mascarons inspired by the architectural ornamentation of the Renaissance and Baroque periods. Their exceptional size and sculptural quality make them striking decorative elements, capable of transforming any interior or architectural space.The central mascarons, finely modeled with expressive lines and striking details, serve as the focal point of each composition. Traditionally used in European architecture as decorative motifs symbolizing protection, strength, or mythological themes, mascarons have adorned palaces, fountains, facades, and grand interiors for centuries.These wall sconces are characterized by their bold architectural forms, fluid ornamentation, and
