Description

Triptych from the Spanish School, 17th century:
Triptych of the Adoration Oil on panel. Total height: 145 cm; Total width: 96 cm Restored. In an antique molded oak frame. Our important Adoration triptych centers on a central panel depicting the Adoration of the Shepherds, flanked by Saint Thomas Aquinas and Saint Teresa. This beautifully executed work, characteristic of the triptych tradition inherited from the Primitives, features colors and a composition that reflect Italian and Spanish influences. The choice to depict the Adoration flanked by Saint Thomas Aquinas and Saint Teresa is no coincidence; it is characteristic of the Counter-Reformation and was likely commissioned as part of a series of works. It is interesting to observe, through this painting, the artistic exchanges between the
