Description

A rare, wide Parisian porcelain bowl, finely painted with Greek figures in the Antique style. Created by Dagoty, known as "à l'étrusque" Empire period. Note: some wear on the gilding. A testament to the golden age of Parisian porcelain in the early 19th century, Dagoty's production is characterized by elegant forms, the use of color, and great opulence. Empress Josephine bestowed the company with the coveted title of "Manufacture of Her Majesty the Empress."
