Description

A magnificent rectangular Venetian mirror, richly adorned with engraved glass panels featuring floral and foliage motifs. It is distinguished by its spectacular openwork pediment with volutes, centered around an engraved medallion, as well as by its molded glass inlays and decorative cabochons typical of Venetian craftsmanship. The frame consists of beveled mirror panels finely etched with acid, enhanced by a delicate plant motif. The piece exhibits a beautiful luminosity and subtle iridescent reflections that highlight the quality of the glasswork. Probable date: mid-20th century, in the style of 18th-century Venetian models. Dimensions: Height 1.20, width 0.70. Very good overall condition. Four small glass cabochons are missing.
