

Monumental Double-leaf Door - Late 18th Century

2 600 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Painted wood

Width : 150

Height : 270

Description

Monumental double-leaf door - Late 18th century (late '700) A splendid pair of antique Piedmontese or Northern Italian doors in original antique green-gray lacquer, dating to the late 18th century. Crafted with elegant neoclassical molding, they feature a refined, curved, domed tympanum (a low-arched pediment) with a rich and sinuous molded frame, typical of the fine craftsmanship of the era. The double-paned doors are framed by exquisite concave and convex moldings that lend movement and lightness to the surface. They retain their beautiful original patina in a matte green-gray lacquer, with natural signs of age and wear that enhance their antique charm. They close with the original lock (key included). Dimensions: With frame: Height 270 cm × Width 150 cm Clear opening: Height 259

Dealer

Il Rigattiere di Martini
Antiques

Mobile : +393392392619

Via Aurelia nord 92

Grosseto 58100

cm × Width 124 cmOrigin: Northern Italy.

Period: late 18th century. Condition: excellent state of preservation, original lacquer unretouched, slight signs of wear consistent with its age.Price listed is for a single door (available as a matching pair). A collector's item for prestigious residences, grand entry halls, libraries, or as an architectural element with great decorative impact.