Description

We are pleased to present a spectacular antique Italian table dating from the early 20th century. This rustic-style dining table, crafted from solid oak with a warm natural finish, is truly rare and impressive due to its length! The solid, thick tabletop is very long, rectangular, and sleek, ideal for seating a large number of people. On one side, there are two spacious drawers with classic shell-shaped handles made of finely chiseled metal. The base of the structure is supported by six sturdy turned legs, connected to the base by a solid "H"-shaped crossbar that ensures maximum stability and prevents the long tabletop from warping over time. For your convenience, please allow 60 cm (approximately 23.62 inches) of space for the legs. The table is in excellent condition with a natural finish, showing minimal
