

Three-strand Necklace Made Of Mediterranean Coral And 18k Gold

490 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Coral

Length : 52 cm

Diameter : 4 cm

Description

A three-strand necklace made of small beads of authentic natural red Mediterranean coral, a superb testament to traditional craftsmanship and the art of carving. The centerpiece of the piece is a striking circular element, finely hand-carved with a floral motif. The carving, executed with the highest quality craftsmanship, stands out for the extraordinary three-dimensionality of the petals arranged in a radial pattern and for the meticulous detail of the outer leaves, carefully serrated along the edges to lend realism and dynamism to the composition. As a testament to the craftsmanship and structural care, the back of the centerpiece is elegantly reinforced and finished with a base of natural mother-of-pearl, which ensures the stability of the setting and exceptional comfort when worn. The centerpiece

Dealer

Mercantedarte Antichità

Antiquités objets d'art italien

Mobile : 00 39 348 510 1428

via dei Coronari 136

Roma 00186

is designed to be versatile and removable: it attaches to the three strands of coral via two elegant vintage 18-karat yellow gold (750/1000) lobster clasps. The coral dates from the 19th century and was assembled in the 20th century. Weight: 51.77 g. Diameter of the central flower: 4 cm. Condition as shown in the photos. I'm also on Instagram "Mercantedarteroma"