Description

A remarkable pair of gilded bronze chandeliers in the Louis XV style. Late 19th century. An exceptional pair of richly chased gilded bronze chandeliers in the Louis XV style, featuring a dynamic design of rocaille motifs, scrolls, acanthus leaves, and highly elegant plant-inspired volutes. Each chandelier consists of 18 light arms harmoniously distributed across several levels, creating a majestic presence and a remarkable decorative effect. The central section, shaped like a baluster, is adorned with foliage motifs and shells in the pure rocaille style of the 18th century. The quality of the chiseling and the richness of the ornamentation attest to the craftsmanship of late 19th-century bronze artisans. The sinuous arms extend gracefully around the central shaft, supporting finely crafted
