Description

A charming pair of French Louis XVI Revival candelabra dating from the late 19th century. Each candelabrum is finely modelled in gilt bronze and centred on a dark patinated bronze caryatid figure standing upon a circular alabaster base. The figures support fluted classical urns from which issue two elegantly scrolling candle arms terminating in fluted sconces. Above each urn rises a decorative finial formed as a richly cast trophy of fruit, foliage and flame motifs. The design incorporates many characteristic Louis XVI decorative elements including fluting, beaded borders, classical urns, foliate ornament and a pleasing symmetrical composition. The circular alabaster bases are further enhanced by pierced gilt bronze galleries and stand on four finely cast feet.
