Description

A charming 19th-century hand-crafted copper basket featuring a beautifully rounded body and an elegant arched handle. This decorative vessel showcases the warm, rich tones of aged copper, enhanced by decades of natural patina that give the piece remarkable character and authenticity. The basket is formed from hand-worked copper sheets, displaying subtle irregularities and gentle hammer marks that testify to traditional craftsmanship. Its classic baluster-shaped body rises from a stepped circular foot and is topped by a rolled rim, while the sturdy fixed handle creates a balanced and pleasing silhouette. The interior retains its original utilitarian appearance, contrasting beautifully with the polished exterior surface. Originally intended for domestic use, this type of copper vessel may have served for carrying small household items, gathering produce, storing kindling, or as a decorative fireside accessory. Today, it makes a striking decorative accent in both traditional and contemporary interiors. Its warm metallic glow pairs beautifully with antique furniture, country house décor, or collections of copper and brass objects. Presented in good antique condition, with expected wear, surface scratches, oxidation, and patina consistent with age and use, all contributing to its authentic historic appeal.
