Description

An elegant small 19th-century console table, crafted from finely carved and gilded wood, characterized by a slender silhouette and rich, classically inspired decoration. The contoured top rests on an elegant, carved central leg, embellished with floral motifs and volutes, which ends in a finely carved tripod base, lending the piece a sense of lightness and harmony. The refined carved decorations attest to the meticulous craftsmanship typical of the period. It is in good overall condition, consistent with its age. It retains much of its original gilding and shows visible signs of aging, wear, and minor losses. It requires conservative restoration aimed at enhancing its original features.
