Description

A regional sideboard made of solid cherry wood, inspired by the Louis-Philippe style. Its top features slightly rounded front corners that soften its silhouette. It features two lower drawers with molded fronts and drop-down handles made of chiseled metal. The double-locking mechanism is functional and comes with its key. Below the drawers, two doors framed by moldings open to reveal a storage compartment with a shelf. The right-hand door is equipped with a working lock, also supplied with its key. The lock plates are delicately crafted. The bottom of the sideboard is accented by a baseboard, and the entire piece rests on cloven feet at the front and straight feet at the back, providing stability and refinement.Period: 1900Excellent condition following restoration in our
