Description

An elegant painting under glass depicting St. Joseph with the Infant Jesus, set in a refined square frame made of gilded wood. The composition is enclosed within a central oval, depicting a devotional scene of great tenderness: Saint Joseph holds the Child, rendered in delicate tones and with luminous, soft brushwork. The frame features beautiful antique gilding, with geometric decoration and a stylized leaf motif along the inner edge. The under-glass oval retains a pleasingly brilliant and deep effect, typical of this technique. On the reverse, signs of age, old mounting hardware, and a handwritten inscription are visible. A decorative and devotional object of great charm, ideal for a collection, antique furnishings, or a sacred setting. Period: 19th century Technique: under-glass painting Frame:
