Description

Powerful bronze sculpture entitled "Extreme Effort", created by the Italian sculptor Alfredo Pina (1883-1966). The sculpture depicts a male figure at the very peak of physical exertion. Every muscle is rendered with remarkable precision, conveying both strength and tension. The dynamic composition captures a universal theme of determination, endurance and the limits of human effort. A pupil of Auguste Rodin, Alfredo Pina developed a distinctive sculptural language in which expressive movement and anatomical accuracy play a central role. The rich bronze patina beautifully catches the light, enhancing the depth of the modelling and the dramatic presence of the figure. With its powerful subject and exceptional craftsmanship, this sculpture is a fine example of 20th-century figurative art. It will
