

18th-century Olive-green Blown-glass Oil Lamp

250 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Glass

Diameter : 15

Height : 6

Description

Olive-green blown glass, flattened lenticular in shape, featuring a small flared neck designed to hold the wick holder. The slightly concave base retains a beautiful pontil mark and numerous bubbles and manufacturing irregularities characteristic of antique glassware. The piece as a whole exhibits beautiful translucency and a nuanced hue, typical of artisanal productions of the era. This lamp, with its simple and elegant shape, follows the tradition of domestic lamps in use before the widespread adoption of kerosene lighting. Its remarkable condition--free of chips, cracks, or restoration--enhances its collectible value. There are a few irregularities and bubbles within the glass, which are inherent to its antique manufacture. Dimensions: Diameter: 15 cm Height: 6 cm
