Description

A significant Italian wall console made of richly carved and gilded wood, dating from the 18th century. It features a spectacular Rococo decoration composed of large volutes, scrollwork, acanthus leaves, and an elegant female mascarón occupying the center of the composition. The deeply openwork carving attests to the virtuosity of the Italian workshops of the period. The sides are adorned with scrolls ending in delicate pendants, while the scalloped base harmoniously complements the half-moon top, creating a particularly decorative ensemble. With its fluid lines, rich ornamentation, and theatrical character, this console table evokes the works of the great 18th-century workshops of Northern Italy, renowned for the quality of their carving and the exuberance of their Rocaille decoration.
