Description

A pair of Louis XVI-style nightstands made of mahogany and mahogany veneer, featuring three drawers with small knobs on one and a niche with a drawer on the other. The drawer fronts are decorated with brass moldings. The white marble tops are surrounded by an openwork railing. The front legs are rounded and fluted. The four sheathed legs end in a shoe-shaped base. These bedside tables, in very good original condition, have been cleaned, and the openwork frames were disassembled for polishing. Please note: there are stains on the marble, visible in the photographs. We will respond to every inquiry sent by email; please check your spam folder.
